F.D.R.'s Farm Bill
Slashed As House
Economy Bloc Wins

Congressional Fear of New Taxes or National Debt Limit Increase, In Election Year, Helps Lop Off $66,928,435

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—That nightmare of many congressmen, the fear of having to vote in this election year for new taxes or an increase in the national debt limit, helped economy advocates win house approval last night for a drastic reduction in federal farm outlays.

Without a record vote, the chamber passed an agriculture supply bill which would provide $66,928,435 less than President Roosevelt proposed for activities in behalf of the farmer during the fiscal year starting July 1.

Held to $722,001,084
The house held the measure to a total of $722,001,084, which is $579,339,231 under the total available for the current fiscal year. It retained many of the reductions made by its appropriations committee, despite the fact that the President had called the committee cuts perfectly terrible and Rep. Jones (D-Texas) had pleaded with tears in his eyes for restoration of a $25,000,000 loan fund to help tenants become farm owners.

Now the bill goes to the senate, where farm state members will try to restore it to the size asked by Mr. Roosevelt and undertake also to add at least $200,000,000 for "parity" payments. These would be designed to give farmers the same purchasing power, in terms of non-farm goods, that they had in 1909-14.

Last year congress appropriated $1,301,340,315 for farm expenditures.

Recall Budget Message
In his budget message this year, telling congress how it could keep within the $450,000,000 debt limit with only $480,000,000 of new taxes, Mr. Roosevelt asked a farm appropriation of $788,928,519, and congressional permission for the rural electrification administration to borrow $40,000,000 from the reconstruction finance corporation.

The $722,001,084 house bill includes the $40,000,000 as an outright appropriation, however. It was put in that form after Rep. Taber (R-N.Y.) raised a legal point against the procedure suggested by the chief executive.

213 New Cars, 32 Trucks
Are Sold In Columbiana County

LISBON, Feb. 3.—The automobile business was one of the best in the county during January, according to a report of new car certificates of title issued by Clerk of Courts Carl Stacey.

The report lists 213 new cars and 32 new trucks sold during the month, with an approximate value of $245,000.

The January sales surpass those of the corresponding month in 1939, when 94 new cars and 24 trucks were delivered, while the new car sales were four times greater than those of January 1938 when only 52 new automobiles and 19 trucks were delivered. The report even surpassed December's when 188 new cars and 33 trucks brought the total to 221 new units sold.

Furniture Company

LISBON, Feb. 3.—Kathleen Sebring Overlander of East Liverpool filed an action yesterday in common pleas court here against W. H. Cordwin and others as directors of the Frank Crook company, a corporation, asking judgment in the sum of $25,000.

The plaintiff filed the action on behalf of herself and other shareholders. The petition states that W. H. Cordwin, H. O. Huston, J. A. Reaney, Agnes Crook, and Phyllis Crook on July 7, 1939, wrongfully and unlawfully assumed the office of directors of the corporation, electing Agnes Crook president, agreeing to pay her a salary of $5,000 a year beginning July 1, 1939. The plaintiff states when she learned of this, she requested the Frank Crook company to bring an action to recover, but that they had refused to do so.

DEMOCRATS ASK
DONAHEY'S HELP

Seek Advice On Formulation of State and National Tickets

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Ohio Democratic leaders are seeking the advice of Sen. Vic Donahey on formulation of state and national tickets for the 1940 election.

Informed sources said that the senior senator, who still has not announced his plans, would confer Monday with Charles Sawyer of Cincinnati and Mrs. Mildred Jaster, members of the national committee. Other party leaders, including former Gov. Martin H. Davey, were expected to be in Washington next week.

Associates of Donahey predict that he will seek renomination at the May primary.

Heer Visits Donahey
Walter Heer, Franklin county chairman, who said he would decide within three weeks whether to seek the governorship, visited Donahey and Ohio house members yesterday.

Heer said his visit to Washington was primarily to seek legislation to permit the federal government to compel industries and states to control stream pollution.

A new controversy over enforcement provisions of stream pollution-control legislation was in prospect.

A senate-approved bill proposes a voluntary program among industries, states and the federal government. A house bill would make a program compulsory after five years of voluntary efforts.

Agitation in behalf of the house bill was revived by Heer. A dispute over compulsory provisions bogged down pollution legislation last year.

Reiterates Opposition
Chairman Mansfield, (D-Texas) reiterated his opposition to the measure and announced that the senate bill would be presented to the house in revised form shortly.

RFC officials, Mansfield said, were virtually rewriting loan and grant provisions of the legislation in line with suggestions of President Roosevelt.

There will be no grants, Mansfield said, either to states or industries, and loans will be made by the RFC instead of by the treasury.

Representative Hess (R-Ohio) and Elston (R-Ohio) said elimination of grants and disbursement of loans through the RFC instead of the treasury would enhance the prospects of early action.

Public Invited to Inspect Local Offices of BUC

"Open House" Is Scheduled
Monday And Tuesday Nights

Manager Arthur Johnston and Staff Will Explain Functions of Job and Claims Center

Manager Arthur S. Johnston and the personnel of the Salem Employment Security Center of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation will welcome citizens of the Salem district on Monday and Tuesday evenings in observance of the opening of the new office of the Center at 616 East State st.

Those interested in familiarizing themselves with the functions of the Center in its work of finding suitable employment for qualified workers in the Salem community and receipt and payment of claims for unemployment compensation, are extended an invitation by Manager Johnston and his staff to visit the office between 5 and 7 p. m.

Special "get acquainted" periods have been arranged by Manager Johnston for employer groups and each evening, following the public "open house" celebrations.

On Monday evening after 7:30, the retail mechanics' section of the Salem Business Bureau will meet with Manager Johnston and his staff to secure first-hand information and actual demonstration of the Center's operations.

Tuesday evening, after 7:30, has been set aside for members of the Manufacturers' association to visit the Center.

Manager Johnston and his staff will explain the procedure followed by the Center in receiving applications for employment and claims for unemployment benefits; the interview of each applicant to determine his job qualifications and eligibility for benefits; processes through which the applicant's claim must pass to determine his weekly benefit amount if eligible for unemployment compensation, and activities of the Center in trying to find the applicant another job.

Specific questions will be answered by staff members of the Center and Manager Johnston following the tour of the Center. Zone Supervisor Donald P. Smith of the field service department, employment service division of the BUC, will assist Manager Johnston in conducting the "open house."

Many interesting and valuable functions are performed by the local office, as part of the state organization, Manager Johnston points out.

Service Divided
Here is where unemployed men and women apply for and receive the unemployment benefits that have been paid for during working weeks. Here, persons seeking work file applications with the employment service division where trained interviewers learn what work a man is qualified to perform and provide information toward securing a new job. Here, also, is where employers come seeking workers.

Unemployed persons seeking compensation must first go to the employment service division, where their applications for work are filed. After a person has registered, he returns to the claims counter, where application is made for unemployment insurance. Records are checked and a file card is made on his application. The person reports weekly for three weeks, and at the end of the fourth week, his compensation begins.

During the three-week "waiting period" the applicant's claim for compensation is checked here and in Columbus. The records of his employer are investigated, and if everything is correct the unemployed man or woman receives compensation for 16 weeks on the basis of 50 per cent of his or her average weekly wage. Payments, however, do not exceed $15 a week.

All unemployed persons are eligible if they have worked in 20 weeks during the last 52 consecutive weeks for an employer subject to the law, Arthur S. Johnston, local manager of both the compensation and employment departments explained.

However, if a person leaves a job without just cause, or is discharged for a good reason, his waiting period is extended to six weeks, and he draws compensation for only 13 weeks, instead of 16. If a person loses his job because of being committed to a penal institution, he receives no compensation.

New Pamphlet Workers
Copies of the newly revised pamphlet, "Information for Workers—About the Ohio Unemployment Compensation Law," issued by the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment, are now ready for free distribution, Manager Johnston announced.

Packed with essential information concerning "job insurance," it explains, in simple terms, the state law requirements on how to be eligible for benefits; how to receive benefits; how much each worker may receive; when no benefits are paid; right to protest; the waiting period; who are and are not covered under the Ohio law.

Reckless driving and intoxication led in arrests made by Salem police last month. There was a total of 28 arrests, five more than the December total.

The January arrests included: Intoxication, 4; intoxication and disorderly conduct, 2; reckless driving, 7; driving while intoxicated, 3; driving with insufficient lights, 4; possession of lottery tickets, 1; disorderly conduct, 1; bastardy, 1; issuing bad check, 1.

NAZI BOMBERS

Two, perhaps Three, Raiders Fall Before Royal Air Force

ATTACK IS THIRD WITHIN THE WEEK

Berlin Claims 18 British Vessels Have Been Destroyed

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Feb. 3.—Hard hitting British fighting planes today shot down at least two and perhaps three German raiders along England's northeast coast in reprisal for air attacks on shipping off-shore.

The air ministry announced the downing of one Nazi plane off the mouth of the River Tyne and another off the Yorkshire coast.

It asserted that another enemy bomber engaged by the British fighters off the coast of Northumberland "was very seriously damaged" and later reports said it had crashed into the sea. Its destruction, however, was not officially confirmed.

The ministry said a ship went to the rescue of the crew of the bomber shot down off the Tyne.

Accounts differed as to the fate of the German plane downed in the Yorkshire area. An air ministry communiqué reported it "shot down in the sea," but a later version by the authoritative press association said that after a German bomber had attacked a coastal vessel it was chased inland by three British fighters and crashed in flames after a battle over a Yorkshire town.

One of the crew was reported killed and three injured.

The press association said this apparently was the plane described in the communiqué as down off the Yorkshire coast.

The air ministry gave this account of the fight off the Tyne: "A third successful interception of enemy aircraft off the east coast this morning is now reported. Encounters with the two other German bombers had previously been reported." A Royal Air Force fighter command patrol shot down an enemy aircraft off the Tyne shortly before 11 a. m. A ship went to the rescue of the crew.

All the German planes were said to be Heinkel bombers.

Watch Battle In Air
No air raid alarm was sounded in the Yorkshire town where residents stood in the streets watching the battle between the Heinkel and three British planes.

Later a witness said he went to the scene of the crash and "saw a huge German plane with black crosses and Swastika markings lying in a field near a Moorland cottage and riddled with bullets. A military guard was mounted over the wreckage."

Today's series of raids were the third of the week. Monday the Nazis launched air attacks on shipping off a 400-mile stretch of British coast under cover of low-lying clouds.

In a renewal of the raids Tuesday the British reported one German bomber shot down and another disabled. (Berlin communiqués asserted that a total of 18 ships—14 merchantmen and four British patrol boats—were destroyed in the two days raids. The British named only three vessels lost.)

ALL-WEATHER TARIFF

The fixed objective of tariff reformers for at least half a century has been objective determination of rates, free from narrow business and political pressures. The evil of trusting national trade policy to local interest, has been demonstrated so often it is axiomatic.

It was understood in advance that if the theory of reciprocal trade treaties ever were put into effect it would be under continuous and bitter attack by the same groups that formerly overplayed their hand in the lush era of "log rolling". The endless struggle between executive and legislative branches for power would become a pitched battle.

That is what has happened. It is why State Secretary Hull, who has been given a chance to experiment with reciprocal treaties, is under fierce attack. It is why the tariff again has become a sizzling political issue. Into this situation Sen. Vandenberg has thrown a new idea.

The New Deal reciprocal trade agreements program, he recommends, should be replaced by a six-member foreign trade board authorized to handle all matters pertaining to tariffs and commerce with other countries. Such a board would be empowered to maintain an all-weather tariff, in contrast to an inelastic schedule of rates. It would apply the principle of economic planning to trade with other countries—"a middle ground between congressional log rolling and the reciprocal trade agreements program." It would divorce foreign trade policy from foreign policy by taking tariff matters out of the state department.

The senator from Michigan has made his loudest bid for attention as a presidential nominee with something neither party will be able to shrug off. Log rolling was a flop; reciprocity has run into serious opposition; the time is ripe for a substitute that will command respect from extremists in both directions.

BUT WAR ISN'T LOGICAL

President Kallio's peace offer to Russia on Feb. 1 is something historians may hesitate over when posting final accounts in the Baltic shuffle. It won't be easy to classify.

The Finns were willing to make an honorable peace before the war got under way. With an astonishing record of success in resisting invasion behind them, they still were willing to reach a negotiated settlement before Russia had rallied from the shock of failure.

While it may be that President Kallio's proposal is made with a view to averting the catastrophe of a Red army eventually crushing Finland, which still is the probable outcome of the war, the fact remains it is timed to permit Russia to escape from a dilemma. It can win its war against Finland ultimately, but at a cost that may prove fatal. A negotiated peace that would give it what it wants—control of the approach to Leningrad—without imposing on Finland what it doesn't want—invasion by the Soviet army—would seem to be logical.

Unfortunately, war itself being illogical there is little likelihood of a logical peace. President Kallio's proffer will be more important to historians than it is to Joseph Stalin and his confused generals and commissars.

THE WELL KNOWN AX

This is a short one-way trip to the end of a limb, guided by nothing but electrical impulses sent by remote control via newspaper wire services.

Rep. Dies of that well known committee whose name gives it the right to investigate anything and everything in America is being kept busy dodging the well known ax that politicians use on one another in Washington when they reach the parting of the ways. Either his opponents are going to cut his political throat, or cut their own in the attempt. There is going to be a climax of violence soon.

If the Texan's opponents win, they will drag him around Troy; if he wins he will drag them around Troy. But the time has come for a showdown on his chairmanship of the Dies committee. Its namesake has been marked for extinction. One of the grimmest inside battles for survival witnessed since the New Deal purge of 1938 shortly will be history.

PSHAW NOW, MR. MADDEN

As chairman of national labor relations board, J. Warren Madden is expected to defend that organization, which is entirely as it should be. His countrymen expect him to be realistic—and that's as it should be too.

Mr. Madden has charged before the congressional committee investigating the board that National Association of Manufacturers is to blame for trouble stirred up by the labor act. His reasoning is ingenious. It is not honest, however, unless Mr. Madden has an overdeveloped talent for spoofing himself.

By causing resentment among employees, says Chairman Madden, the association caused them to start a wave of industrial strife. The resentment was caused by "inciting" employers to disobey the labor act, he explains.

If Mr. Madden will come out of his ivory tower in Washington for a tour of inspection where the people live he will find that employers didn't need to be incited by National Association of Manufacturers to question the labor act. When they found out what was happening they generated their own steam.

He will find out that interpretations of the act were explosive in their effect on a lot of otherwise placid citizens and that a lot of fingers got burned in the process of making adjustments.

The average employee knew nothing about the act, the labor board or the class warfare being promoted behind them. Whatever wave of industrial strife got under way was stirred up by gentlemen with whom strife stirring is a specialty. Mr. Madden knows them by sight. The chairman of a government agency as important as the labor board owes it to himself to be more realistic about the problems of his job than Mr. Madden has been.

The public library was opened this afternoon in its new quarters in the Pioneer block. The new library rooms are a great improvement over the one just vacated. They are larger, better lighted and airy. The new quarters are made up of two rooms connected by a large archway. Either room may be entered from the long hall, the library proper or the reading or reference room. The library is lighted by gas and heated by steam.

The library association was formed in the fall of 1895 when articles of incorporation were issued. It was a stock company, there being 60 stockholders at the time of its incorporation. Shares of stock were sold at $25 each, the money thus obtained being used to purchase books.

In March, 1896, the library was opened in a back room in the Gurney block on Broadway. The number of volumes owned then was 1,239. It was open twice a week on Wednesday and Saturdays from 3 to 5 p. m. A membership fee of $2 per year was charged each person for the privilege of taking books.

There is so much snow piled up in the streets that a continued thaw will cause a flood in the business section of the city.

THE STARS SAY:

For Sunday, February 4

SUNDAY'S horoscope promises much success and gratification for all clerical, church and intellectual interests, but in other directions there is urgent need for prudence and vigilance against deception, fraud, trickery and intrigues.

Those whose birthday it is may look for some solid achievement through diligence, hard work and from past effort or accumulations during the year. But there is much need for discretion in other affairs, with particular watchfulness as to treachery, intrigue, schemes and plots, especially when affixing the signature to documents.

A child born on this day may be shrewd, clever, deep thinking but quick acting. It may jump into dangerous and doubtful enterprises through schemes, sharp practice or subtlety, although it may be suspicious and over-critical.

For Monday, February 5

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for a memorable and surprising development in the affairs that may be considered radical or reactionary. The mind will be quickened into strange, perhaps unique paths, demanding a complete about-face from old and effete views, philosophies and systems. This may lead to fresh fields of adventure.

Those whose birthday it is are on the brink of a year in which there may be a complete change in their lives—mentally, physically and in associations, plans and environs. Such radical change may beget fresh or startling ideas and innovations, and bring dramatic or sensational experiences or adventures.

A child born on this day may have extraordinary talent, which may be born of new and even spectacular ideas which, when applied to business methods, scientific research, invention, travel or aeronautics, may be deemed revolutionary.

Joe Stalin may be holding back his best troops for self-protection in the event the Finns reach Moscow.

Pneumonia Under Control
As Results Of Research

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

PNEUMONIA is under very good control today. This is due to the researches of the past few years. Two methods of treatment have been proved to be effective in pneumonia. One is the use of vaccines for the different strains; the other is the use of a drug, sulfa pyridine. There is no reason why both methods of treatment cannot be carried out.

Pneumonia is caused by a germ, the pneumococcus, which has many varieties. The proper serum must be selected to fit the exact variety which the patient has. This is now done rapidly by methods of typing known in all laboratories. Type III pneumococcus is resistant to any serum, but yields to sulfa pyridine.

All these procedures can be left in the hands of the attending physician.

Know Early Signs

What is important for the patient to know is that during this kind of weather, a sudden pain in the side, with or without a chill, with a feeling of great prostration and oppression in the chest, accompanied by fever, probably marks the onset of pneumonia. At least, the symptoms call for a consultation with your family doctor. Since early treatment leads to the best results, and since the doctor has effective early treatment, everyone should stay on the conservative side and call for medical consultations when even a suspicion exists.

Influenza, the other great dangerous respiratory disease, is, like the common cold, probably a virus disease. The virus has been cultivated in ferrets.

Influenza tends to visit the world in cycles of about 20 or 30 years apart, with a severe worldwide epidemic. Whether the mild epidemics of generalized infection called "influenza" in the intervening years are really influenza, is doubtful.

Hope for Vaccine

If it is proved that the ferret virus is really the cause of influenza, we will have a way of checking up on clinical opinion. We may also hope that a vaccine which will be useful in prevention and treatment of influenza, will be perfected before the next great world-wide epidemic appears.

The best article I have seen on the subject of influenza in recent years is in a Chinese medical journal. They appear to have the real thing there yet, which is significant because influenza usually, comes out of the East. It may be that the whole world will pay for the ambitions of Japan in disrupting the population of China and the hygienic control that the new China was beginning to exercise upon its people.

Questions And Answers

G. S.: "Please send me a diet list for one who has ulcer of the stomach."

Answers—The best plan is a divided diet, small meals and often. Separate eating from drinking. Avoid the three S's—Sweet, Sour, Spice. Avoid candy, pastries, soggy foods of all kinds—puddings and soggy desserts. Avoid fried meats and fatty meats, such as fat fish. Cereals, such as rice and oatmeal, should be boiled three to four hours before eating. Never use white bread except the crust, or have it toasted. The best food for you is lean, tender meat broiled, such as the breast of lean, young chicken, steak, roast beef or lean fish and oysters. Cream vegetable soup, mashed potatoes, peas, beans, well-cooked cereals, eggs in any form and milk and cream. A glass of half milk and half cream taken with meals and in the middle of the morning, middle of the afternoon and before going to bed will give you a great deal of relief. This diet will be excellent for your bowels.

A. B.: "What is Addison's anemia?"

Answer: Thomas Addison, of Guy's Hospital, London, described the anemia that was afterwards called pernicious anemia. It is no longer pernicious because it can be cured with liver.

E. C.: "Is there any home treatment for pyorrhea? Will salt used on the toothbrush harden the gums?"

Answer: Pyorrhea of mild grade can be treated at home. The object should be to harden the edges of the gum by hard rotary brushing with a small, stiff brush. Salt is a good dentifrice and will harden the gums. If pyorrhea has got to the place where there is pus formation and tartar, it is advisable to seek expert treatment from a dentist.

Rev. Bauman will endeavor to answer such important questions as "What is the purpose of Lent?" "What does Lent really mean?" "Why are we observing it?" "Does the Lutheran church observe Lent just because she is a little afraid to break with customs of the centuries?" All are invited to come to this pre-Lenten service, especially those who have no regular church-home.

A special series of Lenten services will start next Thursday, Feb. 8, and continue each Thursday evening until Easter. The meditations, held at 7:45 in the evening are designed for the study and appreciation of the suffering and death of our Lord Jesus Christ.

The Call of the Cross

"Many calls, rich in privilege and stirring in their appeal, come to us in life. But greater in power and richer in privilege than any other is the appeal which comes to us through the call of the Lenten season. Matchless in its influence and blessedness, this call is without a rival. Time has wrought no changes in this call of the Cross. While as an historic event we assign it to a specific time and place, as a moral event it belongs to all time and is just as near to us as it was to St. John and the three Marys who stood in the shadow of the Cross. These many centuries the call of the Cross like the call of the morning, has drawn men from the darkness and the dead works of night to the glorious light and the activities of a new day, filling their lives with faith, hope and charity. The appeal of the Cross comes to us with all the power and emphasis of old.

Sunday School, 9:45 (Genesis 1:27-31). Charles W. Youtz, Supt.

"There is nothing more valuable than life, and especially human life. Life is a gift from God. Life is that which has been begun by one greater and mightier than man. God as the creator is the only answer. There is no better explanation about the origin of all things than the one that we have in the Holy Bible. Even the most brilliant and trained scientists bow humbly before the truth that God is the author of all things. If life is a gift from God, then we are bound to use it to His glory and praise. A wasted and useless life is sheer thanklessness and ingratitude."

Morning worship, 11:00—Sermon, "The season of Lent begins next Wednesday, called Ash Wednesday, named because of the custom of putting ashes upon the forehead to remind the penitent, 'Dust thou art, and unto dust thou shalt return.' The term Lent comes from the Saxon word, meaning spring or the time when the days lengthen. It is the period of forty days, exclusive of the Sundays, preceding Easter. The period of forty days commemorates the period of forty years of Israel's wandering in the wilderness, and the forty days' fast and temptation of our Lord following His baptism. It is the period when repentance of our sins is emphasized and remembrance of the sufferings and death of our Savior. The C. Y. "Love" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read at the morning worship of the Christian Science Society tomorrow. The Sunday service is also broadcast over station WOGL (610 kil.) in Cleveland the first and third Sundays in each month at 11 a. m.

Sunday school for pupils up to the age of 20 years is held at 9:30 a. m. A mid-week service is held the first Wednesday in each month at the church at 8 p. m.

The Golden Text is: "The love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost, which is given unto us" (Romans 5:5).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "The Lord thy God in the midst of thee is mighty, he will save, he will rejoice over thee with joy; he will rest in his love, he will joy over thee with singing" (Zephaniah 3:17).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God is Love. Can we ask Him to be more? God is intelligence. Can we inform the infinite Mind of anything He does not already comprehend? Do we expect to change perfection? Shall we plead for more of an open count, which is pouring forth more than we accept?" (p. 2).

EAST PALESTINE HANDS CLIPPERS FIRST SET-BACK

Bulldogs Gain 26-24 Win To Snap Columbiana Winning Streak

COLUMBIANA, Feb. 3.—The winning streak of Columbiana High school's basketball team was snapped at 14 in a row last night as Coach Alf Beach's Clippers fell before East Palestine's Bulldogs, 26 to 24, in a Tri-County league game at East Palestine.

It was Columbiana's first set-back of the 1939-40 season and its first loss in the Tri-County loop. A 13-point outburst in the first quarter started East Palestine on the way to the victory. Columbiana was held to two points in the opening period, but came back with an 11-point rally in the second quarter to come within one point of tying the score. The Bulldogs led 14 to 13 at halftime.

Score Tied
The score was deadlocked at 19-all at the end of the third quarter after Columbiana had scored six points to East Palestine's five in the third period.

The lead changed hands several times in the fourth quarter before East Palestine gained the victory. The Bulldogs outscored the Clippers seven points to five in the last period.

A capacity crowd watched the two close rivals battle for the second time of the season. Columbiana won the first game, 30 to 23.

The Columbiana reserves nosed out East Palestine subs, 20 to 17, in the preliminary game.

Hopes to Lead Barons To Victory

Pugnacious James (Peggy) O'Neil, aggressive right wing of the Cleveland Barons, is having one of his best seasons and hopes to lead his teammates to victory Saturday night when they battle the Syracuse Stars at the Arena in Cleveland.

Never a high scorer, O'Neil is noted for his brilliant back-checking and is always called upon to take the ice when his team is a man short. Although only a midget, you can usually find Peggy swapping blows with rival bulky 200-pound defensemen.

O'Neil will find Syracuse well supplied with defense huskies including Harry (Vip) Foster and Art Berlett, former teammates, besides Tiny Teasdale and Bert McInerly.

CHICAGO.—Misses Rahdi Sahlgard and Frances Petershimes, assistants to the secretary of the $50,000 Red Crown Handicap Bowling Sweepstakes, report that entries in the 1939-1940 coast-to-coast bowling classic have broken the Red Crown's own world's record for individual participation in any major sports event. "BRAIN JITTERS" FOUND ON RISE

One Out of Every Ten Is Slightly Unbalanced, Doctor Says

PUEBLO, Colo. — One out of every 10 persons in the United States either has been, is or will be at least slightly unbalanced mentally, in the opinion of Dr. F. H. Zimmerman, veteran superintendent of the Colorado state hospital for insane.

The fast pace of modern life and mental strain during a decade of economic depression has given the nation "brain jitters", Dr. Zimmerman declared.

"Persons who could get by under normal conditions have cracked up," he said. "Now one in 10 persons is certain to have some sort of mental sickness during his or her lifetime and one in 25 will get bad enough to land in an institution."

Dr. Zimmerman blamed the efficiency of modern medicine "for part of the upswing in insanity."

"Life expectancy has been increased in this country from 40 years to a new world high of 60 years," he said. "Insanity is more frequent as humanity grows older."

Latest national statistics, Dr. Zimmerman said, show that the pace of life in the nation's capital apparently is hardest on the mind. The national average of persons confined in state mental hospitals, he said, is 288 per 100,000. Washington, D. C., tops the nation with 849 per 100,000 and West Virginia, nearby, is lowest with 168.

Colorado is highest in the Rocky Mountain region with 328 out of every 100,000 persons confined at the Pueblo institution. Wyoming has only 235 mentally-unbalanced persons per 100,000, New Mexico 177, and Utah 190.

New York's rate is 500. Dr. Zimmerman said. The rate in other eastern states ranges from 345 in Illinois to 487 in Massachusetts. The Pacific Coast states are lower. California rate is 328 — the same as Colorado — and the rate in Washington is 342. Southern states, he said, have fewer cases than any other section of the nation.

PITTSFIELD, Mass. — In 1919 John O'Laughlin had bedside telephone service for two months and recently he discovered he has been paying the extra charge ever since. He is to get a $200 refund covering the 20-year period.

INVITE PUBLIC TO BUC OFFICE

Manager A. S. Johnston
And Staff to Observe
"Open House"

The Ohio State Employment Service division here is divided up into several departments, reception, registration, placement, central filing and promotion.

An applicant, whether he is seeking work or unemployment compensation, first must file with the employment service. A specially trained interviewer learns his qualifications.

After the interview, the applicant's record card is registered in an active file where it remains for 60 days before being transferred to the inactive file.

At the end of 60 days, unless the applicant has reported to the office, his card is placed in an inactive file where it may receive second choice when a call for a worker comes in.

The second set of gears in the employment division begins working when a call for a job comes from an employer. The files are referred to, and the man or men filling requirements are notified to see the employer or report to the employment bureau for another interview.

"Extreme care is taken," Johnston said, "to divide the division into two parts. If the employer calls for a carpenter who can do cabinet work, is about 35 years old and lives in a certain section of the city, our files give us the name of the right man. We don't just send out any carpenter, but send one who meets the requirements."

Call One Office
If we have no one here who can fill the job, we clear the request through other offices in this district, or through the state headquarters in Columbus. If there is no man in the state who can fill the bill, we may send a request to adjoining states, or even throughout the United States, through the U. S. Employment Service.

"Recently we have had several such requests, and were successful in finding properly qualified workers by calling the Canton, East Liverpool and Warren offices."

The central filing section keeps records on the number of old and new applications on hand and the number of placements and requests. This information is sent daily to state headquarters in Columbus where it is compiled to give a daily check on conditions throughout the state.

The promotion department keeps in constant touch with employers, civic groups, workers and the general public, explaining the service that is being offered and working towards the future goal of some day making the department the center to which all employers will look for workers.

"We save the employers time and trouble," Johnston explains, "for instead of having to interview dozens of applicants for a job, many of whom are unfitted, the employer receives from us the names of a few men, all qualified to fill the job."

Activities During 1939
At present there are more persons seeking work than there are jobs. During 1939, 2,650 applicants registered for work, and only 388 job placements were made by the Salem office. Regular placements in private industry, those lasting more than one month, totaled 195. Jobs in public employment numbered 58, and supplemental placements, in which the participation of the Salem Center was limited, totaled 52. The total of 328 jobs in private industry found for district workers during 1939 by the Salem Employment Security Center, was disappointing, but may be partially explained by the fact that this was a new office, with no applicants with which to start.

A total of 128,932 job placements in private industry were made by the 48 employment security centers, 11 branch offices and 52 itinerant (part time) offices of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation last year, Manager Johnston said he had been informed.

The Salem Center staff made 664 visits to employers during 1939 to further the personnel selection service offered by the Center, solicit job openings, and determine job specifications.

Dominica Offers Sanctuary to Nazi Refugees

A new life, free of oppression and persecution, has been promised to 500 families from persecuted European minorities by General Rafael Leonidas Trujillo, once known as the dictator of the Dominican Republic. Under terms of an agreement signed in Ciudad Trujillo, the refugees will settle immediately on 24,000 acres of land donated by Trujillo near Sosua, and will be granted full citizenship. The settlers will include both Jews and non-Jews. Not only will their entry fee be waived, but they will be allowed to bring in equipment and tools duty free. The contract was signed in the presence of James N. Rosenberg, New York attorney and president of the Dominican Republic Settlement Association.

It is proposed that up to 100,000 refugees eventually be granted haven on the island. Economic experts doubt that the republic, equal in size to Vermont and New Hampshire combined, can accommodate that many, but believe that it can accept 25,000 comfortably.

Sugar, cocoa and tobacco are the chief products of the fertile island, with 15,500 of its 19,325 square miles arable. The land contains gold, copper, iron, salt, coal and petroleum, but the mining industry is undeveloped, and it is hoped this is one of the industries which the refugees will help build up. The population of 1,500,000 is a race of mixed European, African and Indian blood, speaking the Spanish language. Education is compulsory.

Trujillo was first made president of the republic in 1934 and soon became known as its dictator. Because of his reforms, which put the backward land in the front-rank of Latin-American countries, the congress changed his title to Benefactor. At expiration of his second term in 1938, Trujillo decided to rest on that title alone and his benefit claimants and others to the Salem Center during the year numbered 38,935.

Disbursement of the $154,447.57 in benefits was made through 15,361 payments to 1,348 eligible workers who experienced total or partial loss of earnings last year.

Average aggregate payment per worker was $114.58. The average weekly payment for total unemployment was $10.25, and for partial unemployment, $5.05.

Claimants, required to report weekly to the Salem Employment Security Center, filed 22,214 continued claims certifying to weeks of unemployment.

Salem claimants receiving their maximum of 16 weeks' benefits during the year numbered 336. A total of 952 claimants received one or more benefit checks, but had not received their maximum and their benefit year had not expired at the close of 1939.

Office Personnel
There are five employees in the Salem Office, in addition to Manager Johnston. They are William S. Cope, who interviews applicants for work, and makes all male placements; Glenn W. Harris, who also interviews applicants, and, as field representative, contacts employers; Elwood C. Hammett, Jr., who acts as claims examiner, statistical reporter, and has charge of files; Miss Elaine Hisecox, claims clerk, taking new and continued claims; and Mrs. Bernice Williams, who acts as receptionist and stenographer, and has charge of women placements.

Having finished a year's activities and experience, the Salem Security Center looks forward to a year of greater service to the community; and will make every effort to aid employers and applicants with any problems pertaining to unemployment compensation and employment service. Manager Johnston says.
